

Steve Fuchs – Technical Sales

Mullica Hill, NJ

Steve has his Masters and BS Degrees in Wood Industries from West Virginia University. He is iLevel TJXpert certified, and has participated in Mitek and Dale Carnegie training courses. He has 14 years of experience with SSI, and feels he has gained valuable industry experience doing market research on wood products usage and opportunities for suppliers and manufacturers.

Favorite aspect of working for SSI? SSI leadership has always created an environment for personal growth and the opportunity for advancement—SSI has been willing to grow and adapt to the market opportunities presented while developing an enviable reputation for service and product quality in the marketplace. In his free time, Steve participates as a member of the Home Builders Association of Delaware, and likes to watch football, ski, and working out. He has significant experience with multi-family housing, and provides value engineering guidance to help builders and contractors construct their projects in the most efficient manner possible. He serves southern NJ, Delaware, and greater Philadelphia.
